PROGRAMME.

Part I.

OVERTURE... "Morn, Noon and Night" Suppè.

SONG "The Trumpeter" Dix.

Mr. Cuthbert Allan.

well app'd

Trumpeter, what are you sounding now?
(Is it a call I'm seeking?)
"You'll know the call," said the trumpeter tall,
"When my trumpet goes a-speaking.
I'm rousing 'em up, I'm waking 'em up,
The tents are astir in the valley;
And there's no more asleep with the sun's first peep,
For I'm sounding the old 'Reveille'"

Trumpeter, what are you sounding now?
(Is it a call I'm seeking?)
"Can't mistake the call," said the trumpeter tall,
"When my trumpet goes a-speaking.
I'm urging 'em on, they're scamperin' on—
There's a drumming of hoofs like thunder;
There's a maddening shout as the sabres flash out,
For I'm sounding the 'charge' no wonder."

Trumpeter, what are you sounding now?
(Is it the call I'm seeking?)
"Lucky for you if you hear it at all,
For my trumpet's faintly speakin'.
I'm calling 'em home—come home! come home!
Tread light o'er the dead in the valley
Who are lyin' around, face down to the ground,
And they can't hear me sound the last 'rally."

But they'll hear it again, in a grand refrain,
When Gabriel sounds the last 'rally."

Miss Margaret Hatfield

SONGS (a) "Love's Coronation" Aylward.
..... (b) "'Tis the Day" Leoncavallo.

Miss Gertrude Taylor.

(a) "LOVE'S CORONATION."

Miss Gertrude Taylor

I have no crown to crown thee save Love,
No kingdom for thee but this heart of mine,
I have no offerings my love to prove,
Or dower of gems that shine.

Save Love I have no sceptre for thy hand:
But wield this wand, and I am by thy side,
And all my life is under thy command,
And in thy will my pride.

W. V. G.

I have no throne to give thee save my heart;
Lean heavily, thy burdens on it cast.
So rest be thine, and mine the blessed part
To guard and hold thee fast.
I have no crown to crown thee with save Love.

(b) "'TIS THE DAY."

A beautiful morning is breaking
With wonder and light, now the sun
The whole world from slumber is waking
And kissing the flowers each one.

Sweet raptures of life now are leaping.
The roses have opened their eyes,
But thou, my belov'd, still art sleeping,
In vain are my tears and my sighs.

Wake, my belov'd, each shadow rending,
Come like the sunshine, golden and gay,
When thou art absent, night seems unending,
When thou art near me, lo, 'tis the day.

SOLO PICCOLO..... "The Comet" Brewer. Racy

Mr. S. Broley.

SONG..... "Lighterman Tom" Dix.

Mr. Cuthbert Allan.

I'm Lighterman Tom o' Tilbury town;
I'm known as the jolly Bargee,
No sailerin' chap, in buttons and cap,
Could teach me a lesson—not he!
Why I've followed this river, this same old river,
Since I was a youngster of nine;
An' from Twickenham down to Tilbury town,
They know this old vessel of mine.
You may sing of your life ashore,
You may sing of your life at sea,
With a yo, ho, ho! for the winds that blow,
But that's all fiddle-de-dee!
I reckon I'm fancy free.
And the song for the likes o' me,
Is, "Hey! for the river, the jolly old river,
That carries your old Bargee!"

There's many a tide run under the bridge
Since the lasses are stood in a row,
An' the kisses they threw were more than a few,
To Lighterman Tom below.
There was'n't a man from Beersheba to Dan
As would not have swopped places with me,
When your dainty girls all crackers and curls
Used to sigh for a young Bargee.

You may sing of your life ashore, &c.
There's a widow as lives in Tilbury town,
An' a snug little dowry has she;
Though nigh upon fifty she's buxom and thrifty
An' setting her cap at me.
But widows an' sich, be they never so rich,
Why, bless ye! I'm bound to decline,
For I've promised to stick thro' thin and thro' thick,
To this precious old "hooker" of mine.

Good

You may sing of your life ashore,
You may sing of your life at sea,
With a yo, ho, ho! for the winds that blow,
But that's all fiddle-de-dee!
I'm only an old Bargee,
And as long as I'm fancy free,
I'll stick to the river, the jolly old river,
The same as she sticks to me.
